

Villanelle:

March 1, 2011

I forget this then
I stood in stark amazement because I forgot this then and then you how could feeling time appear so and how the world presses down I forgot this then

voice, your words let them sound I long for them, to hear more
because I forgot this then and then you

a warning came as leaving for that horizon
I forgot this then

living for a moment to be time moves on I know
because I forgot this then and then you

close up
all the more because I forgot this then
because i forgot this then and then you

I forget this then

I stood in stark amazement
because I forgot this then and then you

how could feeling time appear so and
how the world presses down
I forgot this then

voice, your words let them sound
I long for them, to hear more
because I forgot this then and then you

a warning came
as leaving for that horizon
I forgot this then

living for a moment to be
time moves on I know
because I forgot this then and then you

close up
all the more because I forgot this then
because I forgot this then and then you