

Emergent day:

January 9, 2010

-come forth
be triumphant
my fair heart
say that I do not treat you badly awake and be silent and wait for a moment long winters long winters long winters go by slowly
go shiver

come back dawn
I woke up too late
I could have dreamt longer but your light shines so here I am awake
just before the sun sets again be it fair, sunlight, that I did trade you for a cool dream for I wake now only hardly to remember all's echos and earthquakes untimely reverberations no more hardly a story than just some crazy happening