

Cannot keep in step:

July 19, 2009

let me give you this one new page where old pages end where know what lay forgotten was so not forgotten not and could be when oceans shine sunrise take the gold lift from the waters rise and let be that pass you over us back past back left what had fair had left behind

Where will our haunted sorrow go?
I dare not blame you so come of banished sorrow not less I blame you come from altered and forgotten mountains

For only did this moment I realize for you to be with like dream to my life less no life you bring to another less not no infant life and a life of another kind

Fair be not that the sun did rise today forever it will rise and over the ocean

Fair that love did banish me for all that I am it did banished the revolution of the earth and season meant nothing to be So, for when others can lavish in their desires I cannot they lavish because they can and it feels good to their emotion

so, but they have a lifetime of it taken from me -so now that I command the texture of it-

Where some lives can lavish in the experience of emotion I create it and so to for will I always make that choice to

So, but when and where others are rewarded for their love with bonds, and so are rewarded with life and infants, children to love

They grow old having filled themselves I cannot have hate for them for then to would my forgiveness of my own love be a contradiction

Space and time cross out and reach by day or moon light, and only fairly speak I can for I cannot see and if I can it fails to make sense

For all that I am cannot neither be-not not-be made sense of how can that be how could we let go let go throw it to the floor and let be someone who cannot be for that cross the lake fresh waters there is some like place and life I cannot compete with I can not compete with cast mirages and empathy and empty theories.

who would choose metaphysics over a family because having that kind of love nothing can be like it not good love can my love ever be my dreams have such movements in moments but my art in step cannot keep